LOADING LOGS

If It Doesn't Fit – Don't Force It!

There has been a number of property damage incidents lately where loader drivers have been “tapping” logs into the load and the log has flown out and hit the truck or trailer.

Skill and patience is required to get the job done safely. Plan your load, have enough options to fill gaps and crown logs so the chains are effective.

If you feel the frustration building – stop, take a second to get your composure and carry on quietly.
